DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This Office Action is responsive to Applicant's amendment of Feb. 26, 2008.
2. The objections to amended claim 1-5 are withdrawn in view of the amendment.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's argument regarding the 35 USC 112 (2nd para.) rejection of claims 1, 7, and 8 have been considered and are persuasive; the rejection is withdrawn. It is noted however, that at least part of the means for optical transmitting an information carrying signal, such as the section between (18) and (20) in Fig. 2, must be part of the invention to make sense of the claims.
4. Applicant's argument regarding the 35 USC 102(b) rejection of claims 1-5, 9 and the 103(a) rejection of claims 6-8 and 10 are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection. However, claims

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-3 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Christodoulides (US 6,388,800) (cited in PTO-892 on Oct. 22, 2007).

7. With regard to claim 1, Christodoulides discloses in Fig. 12 an optical fiber Raman amplifier, including a device for suppressing backscattered signals. The means for suppressing backscattered signals includes

- an optical propagation medium (optical fiber (72)) arranged in parallel with the optical transmission means (68),(70),and (74)
- divertor means circulators (62) and (70) for diverting to the parallel optical transmission medium, and
- discrimination means WDM (76) and (78) for discriminating between a back-propagated pump signal and a Rayleigh backscattering signal arriving via section (70). (Note that the directions of signal and pump are reversed from Applicant's Fig. 2; this does not distinguish between the devices). The isolator (80), in conjunction with the optical filter (82), suppresses Rayleigh backscattering by filtering that passes the pump signal only through (74).(6th col. lines 48-52)

The clauses "for use with means for optically transmitting an information-carrying signal" and "for use with means for optically transmitting a plurality of information-carrying signals propagating in optical transmission means at different wavelengths" are essentially a statement of intended or desired use. Thus, these limitations as well as other statements of intended use do not serve to patentably distinguish the claimed structure over that of the reference. See MPEP § 2114. In this case, the means for suppressing backscattered signals is coupled to the optical transmission fiber at the right end ( $\lambda_s$  IN) and at ( $\lambda_s$  OUT) of the Fig. 12. The optical transmission system carries information carrying signals at several different wavelengths (2nd col. lines 8-10).

With regard to claim 2, the divertor comprises two circulators (62) and (70).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
9. Claims 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Christodoulides as applied to claim 1 above and further in view of Aina et al. (US 2001/002452).

With regard to claim 3, Christodoulides does not disclose an optical functional module disposed on the optical transmission means between the two circulators. However, Aina discloses in Fig. 6a line site of an optical transmission system with optical functional modules, such as optical add drop multiplexer (670) and optical amplifier (640) situated on a parallel optical fiber(LB) to other optical fibers (HB). It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art (e. g. an optical engineer) to include the optical module(s) of Aina, for the purpose of removing and adding signals at certain wavelengths at intermediate transmitters and receivers (Aina et al. [0005]).

With regard to claim 4, the optical function module comprises an optical add/drop multiplexer (630) and optical amplifier (640) which functions to regenerates the signal.

Note that the citations made herein are done so for the convenience of the applicant; they are in no way intended to be limiting. The prior art should be considered in its entirety.

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claims 5-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
